Join us for a webinar on Wednesday, October 14, 2020 from 6pm to 7pm

How well prepared is your child to succeed in school and beyond?

Newly connected information systems will greatly help California's ability to answer urgent questions about how well it serves its students.

We welcome you to an informational webinar for a new, statewide project for California that will make education, training, and employment information more available for everyone.

Electronic records, easy-to-use pictures on education paths, and college and career planning tools will help your children in meeting their education and career goals.

In this webinar you will learn how the new system will give you information on topics such as:

- Education and career choices to make sure your children are taking the courses they need for college
- Whether your children have finished their financial aid applications so that they can get the money they need to pay for college

Register today to learn how the Cradle-to-Career Data System will help your children learn, stay in school, get ready for college, graduate, and make a living wage in California.
